

EVRAZ North America COVID-19 information update

As communities across Canada and the United States progress into or through various stages of reopening, public health and elected officials continually talk about not losing the ground gained through the closures or undoing the achievements that have been made the last two months.

We all share that goal at EVRAZ North America, where we are fortunate that no member of our workforce has tested positive for COVID-19 to date as our critical manufacturing locations work safely every day to provide our essential services to our customers.

Protecting the health, safety and wellness of EVRAZ North America team members has been our highest priority throughout this public health crisis and will remain so moving forward. The new normal for the communities where EVRAZ North America team members live and work is changing a bit every week – faster in some communities than others.

We remain focused on maintaining our company-wide approach to keeping COVID-19 out of our mills and offices. The pandemic has not ended and the collective actions we've taken to protect our workers remain in place. That includes:

- Restricting work-related travel company-wide
- Prohibiting visitors to our mills and offices.
- Maximizing social distancing practices in all mills and offices.
- Utilizing teleconference technology and prohibiting large gatherings.
- Maintaining robust cleaning practices and frequencies.
- Tracking illnesses and absences in order to adhere to self-isolation guidelines.

Our EVRAZ North America internal Coronavirus Task Force, formed in February, continues to closely monitor developments, evaluate alternatives and coordinate COVID-19-related policies and procedures in coordination with other functional teams.

Our operating facilities in Oregon, Colorado and Canada, including all recycling centers, are open for our workers. Our supply chains are fluid. We are proudly serving our customers.

We will continue to take the necessary steps in response to the coronavirus to protect our teammates while minimizing disruptions to our customers and supply chains.

A special thank you to our dedicated team members for their hard work and continued focus on working safely while serving our customers through this unprecedented situation.

Stay safe and stay well.

Skip Herald
President and CEO
EVRAZ North America

May 29, 2020